MYSTERY OIL FIRM ORGANIZED TO BUILD STORAGE TANKS IN RICHMOND

Plans Of Tide Water Associated To Build Here Closely Guarded

With the granting of permission to the Tide Water Associated Oil Company of California by the state corporation commission to issue $155,000 in stock to its parent company the Tide Water Associated Oil Company of Delaware, it was revealed that the company, of which exceedingly little is known, was formed to build storage tanks at Richmond, for the Tide Water Associated Oil Company of Delaware.

MYSTERY FIRM

Officials here declared that any activity of the Tide Water Associated in Richmond was unknown to them, and that nothing had been revealed that indicated development here by that corporation, as far as they knew.

KEPT CLOSE SECRET

The incorporation of the company in this state seems to have been accomplished with little or no publicity. The company first filed its statement with the state corporation department October 30, 1926.

The company was engaged in the production of oil, the record shows. Its authorized capital was $250,000, represented by 25,000 shares common capital stock, par value $10 a share.

P. Welch, of Spokane, Washington, was designated president, and R. G. Lauer of San Francisco, secretary. Its board of directors was completed by A. J. Pollak, R. R. Pollak and J. P. Sweeney.

STORAGE TANKS KEY

The fact that a California subsidiary was organized with limited authorized capital to acquire the California oil lands from the Delaware corporation, made many persons wonder why the land in question had not been acquired by the Associated Oil Company, a then existing subsidiary of Tide Water Associated Oil of Delaware, or any one of the several subsidiaries of the Associated Oil Company.

The answer lies in the fact that the company was organized for the building of local storage tanks, it is said. Just what other activities the company may later engage in have not yet been announced.

Certain agreements between the corporation and the Miocene Oil Company, entered into October 22, 1926, were submitted to the Department at that time.

This year the company increased its authorized capitalization to $2,500,000, represented by 250,000 shares, par $10 a share. It also filed with the department a valuation report on the Tejon Oil Company's properties in the Kern river oil field.

On November 4, 1926, the company was authorized to issue five shares to its five incorporators at par and 24,995 shares to seven designated persons in exchange for a lease on twenty acres in Kern county.

The land was proved territory, with an estimated future production of 404,847 barrels, and was valued at $699,063, and a lease of forty acres in the Coalinga field. This acreage was unimproved property, on which was placed the nominal valuation of $20,000.

Divorce Suit Cites Hotel Love Tryst

MARTINEZ, Dec. 23.—Instead of returning to his home where his wife and daughter awaited his return last Saturday night, Melvin W. Hamby of Crockett spent the night in a Martinez hotel where he registered another woman as his wife, Mrs. Marguerite Hamby charges in her suit for a divorce filed today.

Mrs. Hamby alleges that her husband had a faculty of remaining away from home until late hours or perhaps the entire night, refusing pointblank to tell his wife of his whereabouts. The alleged love tryst of last week ended, however, was too much for Mrs. Hamby, who when she discovered her husband's alleged infidelity, took steps to obtain a divorce and $50 monthly for the support of the one child whose custody she seeks.

NOOSE TO BE DEMANDED FOR KIDNAP SLAYER

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 23.—In the fastest proceedings of the kind in California's history, Governor C. C. Young today signed the extradition papers with which Los Angeles officials will claim the person of William Edward Hickman, kidnaper of Marian Parker.

At noon today a giant three-motored monoplane made a perfect landing at the Sacramento Municipal airport, and Dwight W. Longuevan, inspector of Los Angeles detectives, jumped into a fast automobile and was driven to the executive offices.

Less than an hour later the papers had been signed, and the plane was winging its way northward to Corning, Calif., where it will halt before the barrier of the Siskiyou. From Corning Longuevan will proceed by train or auto to Salem, Oregon, for the signature of the Governor of Oregon, and then he will go to Pendleton and formally serve the demand for extradition.

Longuevan's requisition as laid before Governor Young certifies that two indictments have been returned against the youthful plotter. One accuses him of kidnapping Marian Parker for purposes of extortion, which carries a penalty of ten years to life. The other charges murder.

REACH PENDLETON TODAY

Longuevan expected to reach Pendleton late this afternoon, and to make train connections that would take him to the Oregon capital late tonight. He will arrive in Pendleton some time tomorrow.

A few hours before Longuevan reached Sacramento by air with his documents, a group of Los Angeles officials passed through here by train on their way north. The party included District Attorney Asa Keyes, Chief of Police Harold E. Davis, Captain of Detectives Herman Cline, and a detail of police officers who will guard young Hickman on the trip back to Los Angeles.

MAY BE HANGED

Hickman may be hanged under the laws of California, if he is convicted of the murder, according to Assistant District Attorney I. M. Golden of San Francisco. The law specifies only that no person can be executed who was under the age of 18 at the time of the commission of the crime, Golden declared. Hickman is now nearly 20 years old, it is believed.

GUILTY OF MURDER

If the murder grew out of the kidnapping as a natural or proximate cause, the prosecutor said, Hickman is guilty of murder whether he wielded the fatal knife or not. His confession of the kidnapping automatically becomes equivalent to a confession of murder in such case, according to Golden.

Only if Hickman can positively show that he did not do the killing, and that it was done by another person, wholly independent of Hickman, can the youth hope to escape conviction for murder, Golden asserted.

HURLEY'S HOST

Mrs. C. Sands of Sacramento will spend the Christmas holidays here with her daughter and son-in-law. City Building Inspector and Mrs. A. J. Hurley, Mrs. A. Sands has been visiting another daughter in Los Angeles and is en route to her home.

CONSCIENCE HELD CAUSE OF CRASH

And when he saw the traffic cop lecturing another motorist his conscience hurt him, he turned to get a better look at the scene, and sloughed into another car.

That's the sad story of an accident on San Pablo avenue near the county line yesterday afternoon as it was explained by Traffic Officer Frank Davis of the Albany police department.

According to Davis, Russell S. Lucas, of 216 Washington avenue, Richmond "was doing 30" with a bad conscience, and Paulo Ferrari of 1803 Virginia avenue, Richmond was the victim of a crushed fender.

Neither of the men was hurt in the crash, but the cars were tied up for nearly an hour, and Lucas' machine "sustained" a broken front wheel.

HICKMAN SHEDS TEARS, CLAIMS KRAMER 'TRICK'

PENDLETON, Dec. 23.—William Edward Hickman will in all probability confess to the murder of 12-year-old Marian Parker before Saturday morning, is the belief of officials here who report that the self-styled "Fox" confessed kidnaper and participant in one of the most atrocious crimes known to the west is weakening. They are not sure, but almost sure he is the murderer.

KIDNAPER WEAK

Hickman's confession, the first sight of him by newspaper men, when he was dragging tears away from his eyes. They were caused, it is believed, by the fact that he is beginning to awaken to his predicament. He was so fatigued following his flight northward to Seattle back to Portland and east to Pendleton that he gave little thought to the atrocity with which he was connected.

OFFICIALS PUZZLED

Whether the confessed kidnaper accidentally killed the child with an overdose of anesthetic and then butchered her in order to dispose of her or whether he is a fiend with an insatiable lust for blood—an insane desire to see human blood flow—they are not certain.

They are not even certain it was Hickman who committed the murder and subsequent murder, but developments uncovered today indicated that it was "the Fox."

KRAMER IN JAIL

The developments were that Andrew Kramer whom Hickman alleges to be the real murderer has been in jail in Los Angeles for several months and that chemists have positively identified in Hickman's apartment, as traces of human blood partly removed with cleansing powder.

"KNOWS TOO MUCH"

Hickman knows too much about the crime, said the officers who yesterday when the youth was first captured believed him to be telling the truth about Kramer when he denied the murder and said: "Some fiend killed her."

"He knows how many pieces of the body were thrown from the machine and he said she was cut across the torso, because he said, it was the easiest place to cut."

"He also knows what towels were used to stop the flow of blood, and confesses to taking chloroform from drug stores during his holdups."

FOX UNPERTURBED

The officers had expected Hickman to wilt when they confronted him with the evidence uncovered in Los Angeles, but "the Fox" showed no signs of confessing anyone more than he already has. He refused to believe that Kramer had been arrested.

"This is just another trick of Andrew Kramer to get out of it," he said looking his captors straight in the eyes.

Hickman this morning sent a wire to his mother stating that he had told all he knew of the kidnapping and murder.

Colored Woman Arrested As Pickpocket Jumps $1000 Bail

MARTINEZ, Dec. 23.—Bail of $1000 deposited by Charles Mayes of Oakland, for Mrs. Mary Johnson, was ordered forfeited to the state today by Superior Judge H. V. Alvarado, when Mrs. Johnson failed to appear for arraignment on a charge of grand theft. She was accused of stealing $630 from Emil Barbano of Richmond on October 29.

Mrs. Johnson's arraignment was scheduled Monday, but she did not appear and Deputy District Attorney James P. Hoy notified the court that the woman's attorneys had withdrawn from the case and her bondsman had informed him that he was unable to locate her.

When Judge Alvarado ordered a postponement of the arraignment Hoy informed the court that forfeiture of the bail would be asked if the woman again failed to make an appearance.

Barbano claimed that the woman embraced him on a Richmond street. When she freed her grasp he discovered that his wallet had been taken. He seized her, but, according to his claim, she threw the wallet over a fence. She invited Barbano to search her and when he found his knife in her possession, he later told authorities, he decided to call the police. The wallet with the money was recovered.

"Underworld" SMASHING FILM AT RICHMOND

"Underworld" is picture as frank as an expose by a fearless motor-police newspaper, favored by the dramatic course on the screen at the Richmond Theatre yesterday.

This is one production that is completely new in its kind, and that is also as absorbing as a drama of modern life. It is impressive because it makes one think in terms of being splendid entertainment. The unfolding of the lives of underworld characters in an environment of crime, their methods of procuring organized society, their ferocious struggles with men paid to uphold the law, and the influence of their nature in following out impulses and emotions in love and hate, provide the basis of the story written by John Hoch for Paramount.

The climax is extraordinarily thrilling, showing how a city street may take on the aspect of a battlefield with police reserves rushing up to a house where a desperate gangster is trapped and has decided to die fighting. Searchlights, machine guns, grenades, automatic revolvers, shields and all the equipment of soldiery come into play when the house is stormed.

The gangland characters are splendidly portrayed by George Bancroft, gangster leader; Evelyn Brent, a girl whose moral consciousness is not awakened until she falls in love; Clive Brook, a man of good breeding who falls into a life of crime; Larry Semon, a crook with a sense of comedy; and Fred Kohler, leader of a gang opposing Bancroft.

Josef Von Sternberg, who directed the underworld drama under Hector Turnbull's supervision, has turned out a remarkable fine piece of work.

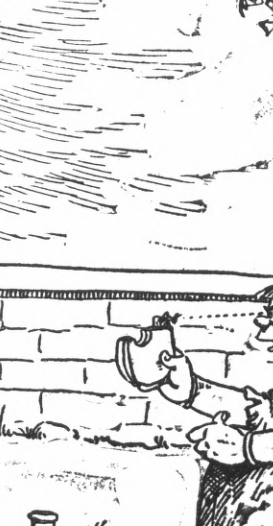

The picture should cause much comment through its faithful depiction in a story sense of an underworld condition that exists in American cities today.

Other film features include the eighth thrilling chapter of "The Golden Stallion," featuring Larry Flynn, and "Steamer Pay," a screen novelty.

VEST POCKETS TOO SMALL, IS MEN'S VERDICT

(By Universal Service)

NEW YORK, Dec. 24.—New York clothing has recently been receiving complaints from customers based on the claim that vest pockets are too shallow for the purpose demanded of them. The upper vest pocket should run from 4 to 4 1/2 inches in depth to properly carry the masoned fountain pens and super-dreadnought lead pencils that have become quite the rage with men and the lower pockets of the waistcoat should run around 2 or 3 1/2 inches in order to allow ample space for patent lighters and cigarette cases.

Lower vest pockets are not used to carry watches these days for the reason that the majority of men are wearing wrist watches. Chronometers of the old style were discarded to make room for an accumulation of toys, that made their several entries as luxuries and have now come to be regarded as necessities. It is pointed out that the wholesale and retail clothing, in featuring popular-priced lines of merchandise to sell at a profit have been compelled to economize on material and consequently centered their efforts on the conservation of yardage where the shortage would not be noticed.

Hence the shallow vest pocket, which in all probability would have escaped notice had the clothiers not overlooked the many uses to which vest pockets have been applied by the citizenry of the United States these days.

The old-fashioned man who carried the stub of a pencil in his vest pocket now has a sa-

"Party Girl" Addition To Social Life

CHICAGO, Dec. 24.—A combination, so to speak, of a saleswoman and a chorus girl—"the party girl"—is coming into vogue in Chicago's social life.

According to Edin Balmer, novelist and Chicago editor, the party is an important product from the social life of New York. She may be a stenographer who wishes to use her evenings advantageously. She may be just a professional party girl.

Not so long ago, he has pointed out, there used to be keen competition between firms to win buyers on the strength of their respective merits.

Now the competition has resolved itself into a rivalry as to which firm can give a buyer a "better time." The result is that lonely buyers are entertained and provided with "party" manufacturers.

"There are party girls," said Mr. Balmer, "who go in for this sort of activity simply for the good time they get out of it. But there are others who require monetary compensation in addition to the expensive shoes, dinners and outings tendered."

"As I spend a third of each month in New York, I have had occasion to see that in the eastern metropolis the party girl is a well established institution, whereas in Chicago she is just coming into vogue."

"In a great many lines of business products have become so standardized in price and quality that there is really no choice between the merchandise of one firm and that of another."

"The competition, then, is no longer as to quality and price. The competition is as to who can show the buyer a better time. Stories of fraternities rushing freshmen with entertainment are pale as compared to the rushings that business houses give to prospective buyers."

"Most sales are made out of office hour. Many are concluded after midnight. Often the sales-

Strange Shaman Cult Faces Extinction In Self Imposed Exile To Siberian Forests

By E. L. DEUSS

(The Universal Service)

MOSCOW, Dec. 21.—The Shamans, one of the strangest cults of spiritualist medicine men in the world, face extinction in the snow-bound forest fastnesses of Yakutia, Siberia, to which they fled years ago to escape what they call the "humdrum superficiality" of modern civilization.

Once respected by the Yakuts as a supernaturally inspired caste, treated and feasted like gods, the Shamans are dying out because their self-imposed isolation prevents them from attracting converts. They do not believe in marriage or child-birth. An adult out alone is capable of being injured with the healing properties of the great god of the steppes, Amaygat. Few of their hymns have been collected and preserved for posterity. If the Shamans pass from the earth, they probably will take their enchanting music with them to the grave.

Dimitri Rogal-Levitzky, famous Russian musical ethnologist, one of the few white men who have succeeded in collecting authentic information about the Shamans, described to the correspondent the "kamlanye," or great sacred ceremony of Shamanism, presided over by the chief Shaman and beginning at twilight.

CROWD INTO TENT

The Shamans, he said, crowd into a large tent, men sitting on benches along one side, women on the other. The Shaman sits alone at the far end on the hide of a white mare. In the center is the fire hole. The Shaman murmurs something to himself, his eyes cast down towards the fire. There is absolute silence. After a while the Shaman rises, removes his shirt and drapes himself in the ceremonial robes. He sits down again, lights a pipe and smokes amid hiccoughs and trembling. His face turns pale. A drink of holy water revives him a little. In a few minutes he steps to the center of the tent. The fire is smothered, and complete silence once more ensues. Suddenly somebody sighs. From the depths of the tent come sounds like the screaming of birds. A tambourine is shaken louder and louder. The noise is pierced by wild creakings of ravens, whistling of woodcocks and cries of eagles. Bell jingle. And suddenly all is quiet.

A few minutes later the noise starts again. The Shaman repeats the melancholy Shamanist conjuring chant.

In the prayer of the Shaman turns to obtain aid from the patron spirit Amaygat. When, according to their faith, Amaygat appears, the Shaman begins to jump. Those present throw bits of dry wood on the coals and with that the Shaman begins his sacred dance, singing, shrieking and pounding his tambourine. His hair literally stands on ends. He foams at the mouth. He turns and runs around at ever-increasing speed, holding the tambourine high in the air and singing with all his might the hymn of victory to the mighty Toljon, the conjurer of spirits.

VISIT THE SICK

Having thus learned from the gods what he wants to know, the Shaman leaves the tent and goes to visit the sick. With prayers and charms he spits or blows from his palm the diseases which torment them.

The success of this spiritual healing among the people was so great that the Yakuts, a semi-primitive race, ascribed heavily powers to the Shamans. But as political exiles and travelers spread western civilization among the Yakuts, the Shamans took offense and for a disease have been living in seclusion.

In their place, M. Rogal-Levitzky said, have sprung up a cult of like Shamans who swallow stick, burning coals and glass, and pierce the flesh of arms and legs with nails. The hymns of the Shamans have also been corrupted and incorporated into the Yakut folks songs. One beautiful melody is being used as a Communist revolutionary anthem.

German Birth Rate Alarms Frenchmen

(The Universal Service)

PARIS, Dec. 21.—German natives never fail to disturb the peace of mind of some Frenchmen. The 1926 figures just made public in Berlin, landed with a shock in the French capital.

There had been, during last year, 1,200,000 births in the Empire, the figures say. The fact that there were some ten thousand cases of twins, 105 sets of quadruplets made some of the calamity prophecies in France shake their heads doubtfully and also fearfully. It looked as if the Germans had gone in for multiplying themselves on the Ford basis.

Doctor Funck-Brentano, leading gynecologist and chief obstetrician of the Beaujon hospital, Paris, however tries to set France's fears at rest. He points out that in France the proportion of twins is even greater than that indicated by the German statistics, or one pair of twins in 80 births.

Twins, like girls, said Doctor Funck-Brentano "happen in" series. "Some weeks have one, then I will have two pairs in a week. As for girls, there may be eight in a row. The alarmists should be reassured by Dr. Funck-Brentano's statements."

Fishing Net Two Miles Long To Be Destroyed

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 23.—Eugene D. Bennett, newly appointed executive officer and attorney for the Division of Fish and Game of the Department of Natural Resources, believes in work as a stimulant to his force. Just to keep his hand in, Bennett in his capacity as attorney for the division has just tried and won his first case since taken over his office.

In winning the case the new fish and game head figured in the condemning of the biggest gill net ever casted in California, when this illegal fishing gear was declared contraband in the Court of Superior Judge W. D. O'Donnell at Fairfield in Solano county. The two nets involved in the case were taken from Andrew Nicholas and Pete Chapadas by Deputies William Armstrong and Charles England and totaled 1665 fathoms in lengths. This represents 9990 feet or almost two miles of net.

The two fishermen were arrested on November 15 while using the nets in the upper reaches of San Pablo Bay near Mare Island, which is in fish and game district No. 2.

As the nets can only be used for what is termed "choking off" they must be used illegally and the Fish and Game Division insists that such equipment be condemned.

SCRAPS FOR YOUR SCRAPBOOK—

By Pete Williams

FORTY YEARS AGO, JACK DEMPSEY, "THE NONPAREIL," FOUGHT JOHNNY REAGEN, OUT ON LONG ISLAND, IN A SNOW STORM, WITH THE THERMOMETER WAY SOUTH OF THE GOOSE EGG—THE RING BECAME SUBMERGED IN WATER—

FAIR OR FOUL
JAMES M. KAHN

Though the current off-season was supposed to be animated by the most spirited trading among the various major league clubs, 1927 is to date far below 1926 in the business of inter-club swapping. The annual baseball meetings now in progress have provided the background for only three deals of any importance, two in the American League and one in the National and when they wind up tonight a lot of disappointed blokes will be carrying their shattered hopes and desires back home with them.

The situation in the American League, while it would stimulate a lot of trading, is at the same time one that makes a lot of trading unlikely. The league is overbalanced, with the Yanks outweighing the other seven clubs so badly the magnates and the customers generally don't expect more of a race next season than there was during the one that closed in October, these other seven clubs would like to build up to a point where they could make things a bit more interesting for their home folk, but they find themselves warily hanging back to every good player in their lineup and waving the bat over round for trades.

You don't do any business that way, and they are finding that out.

The Senators and the Indians have been talking business right along, but Billy Evans persists in hanging on to Huddell, Uhle, the Sewells, Jamieson and Joe Shanteau, offering players like Walter Miller, Homer Summa, Elchrodt and Spurgeon Harris, on the other hand won't part with any of his fine young talent, such as Andy Reeves, Horace Lisenbee, Hadley or the efficient Goose Goslin, but will deal for the elderly Joe Judge, Sam Rice and a couple of others.

The situation between these two clubs is pretty much the same among the rest of the teams, where managers are trying to hang on to every one they think will help them, and go to bed of those who will help nobody else in particular. This may be a shrewd policy, but it isn't one that is conducive to very active trading. As a result, the week of proceeding just more than the usual amount of hot air, but no action.

So far as the Yankees are concerned they may as well be in a league all by themselves. Day Hoveley suggested as much last season, when the Yanks took twenty one out of the twenty-two games with the Browns. However, as the American League schedule made it necessary for the other seven teams to play the Yanks the Huggins continued to go along in company with their plumbers, but now that no schedule exists forcing the other seven clubs to do trading business with the champions Messers, Huggins, Barrow and Ruppert are drawing plenty of chili.

"They are too strong already," said one manager, "and it's a cinch that Huggins isn't going to do any trading but that which would make them still stronger. Why give them a chance to do it, then? Huggins always was willing to swap a five for two bats, but he won't do it with me."

This is the second time that California and Pennsylvania have played in the Memorial Stadium at Berkeley. The Penn team came west in 1924 to play a game with the Bears on New Year's Day 1925. California won 14 to 0. This contest to be played December 31 has been selected by Grantland Rice, dean of sports critics, as the outstanding inter-sectional post-season game of the 1927 season.

PENN GRIDDERS LAND TO PLAY GOLDEN BEARS

BERKELEY, Dec. 22.—With the University of Pennsylvania team here Nov. 1926 today gave his squad of 37 men through a stiff workout that consumed four hours time. Signal drill, the perfecting of the Bear's new formation and a scrimmage with two backfield combinations at work were the features of the practice. When Penn lines up against the Bears December 31 an entirely new set of backs will probably perform for the team which it is hoped will stem the tide of the invading Pennsylvanians for the second time. Penn was defeated on another western jaunt by the Bears in 1925, the score was 13 to 0.

Lee Lonn, who ran at left half back throughout the regular season, has been shifted to the second team and left kicking duties have been taken over, temporarily, by Stanley Barr, sophomore fullback, and Dutch Clymer, halfback.

Barr heads the new combination, with Irving Morris and Leland Eisan, halfbacks and Jack Evans, quarter.

A second combination, which proved effective, was composed of Ralph Dougery, fullback; Frank Gill and Dutch Clymer, halves and Harold Breakenridge, quarter-back. Speed Newman, one of the linebacks throughout the season, has been used with both combinations.

An all probability one of these outfits will be in Penn's starting lineup in the first round, the red line handles the safety position, while Breakenridge catches the punts for the second. Large light but exceedingly fast and shifty.

ST EDMUND'S, LUTHERANS IN CAGE VICTORIES

The Grace Lutherans and St. Edmund's teams were winners in the Church League Basketball games in the Y. M. C. A. last night. The Lutherans defeated the Community Methodists, 23 to 10, and the St. Edmunds won from the First Presbyterians, 20 to 21.

The lineups:
GRACE LUTHERANS—Santaela (8), Moore, Moylan (4), forwards; McLaughlin and McLain, centers and McDevich (2), Thistle (8) and Baldwin (6) guards.

COMMUNITY METHODISTS—Lockwood, Foreman (1) and Roberts, guards; Rowe (2) and Bennett (2), centers and Redfield, Johnson and Hillier, forwards.

ST. EDMUNDS—Baker (2) Overton and R. Fenix, forwards; Tittemore (10) center and Goldworthy (3) and E. Fenix (6).

FIRST PRESBYTERIANS—W. Bruns, T. Coakley and G. Brown, guards; L. Bowman (11) center and G. Bowman (8) Spitzer, Morris and R. Gibson (8) forwards.

School nurse, says all girls should know this

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene, an experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there's no harm in taking nujol, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping."

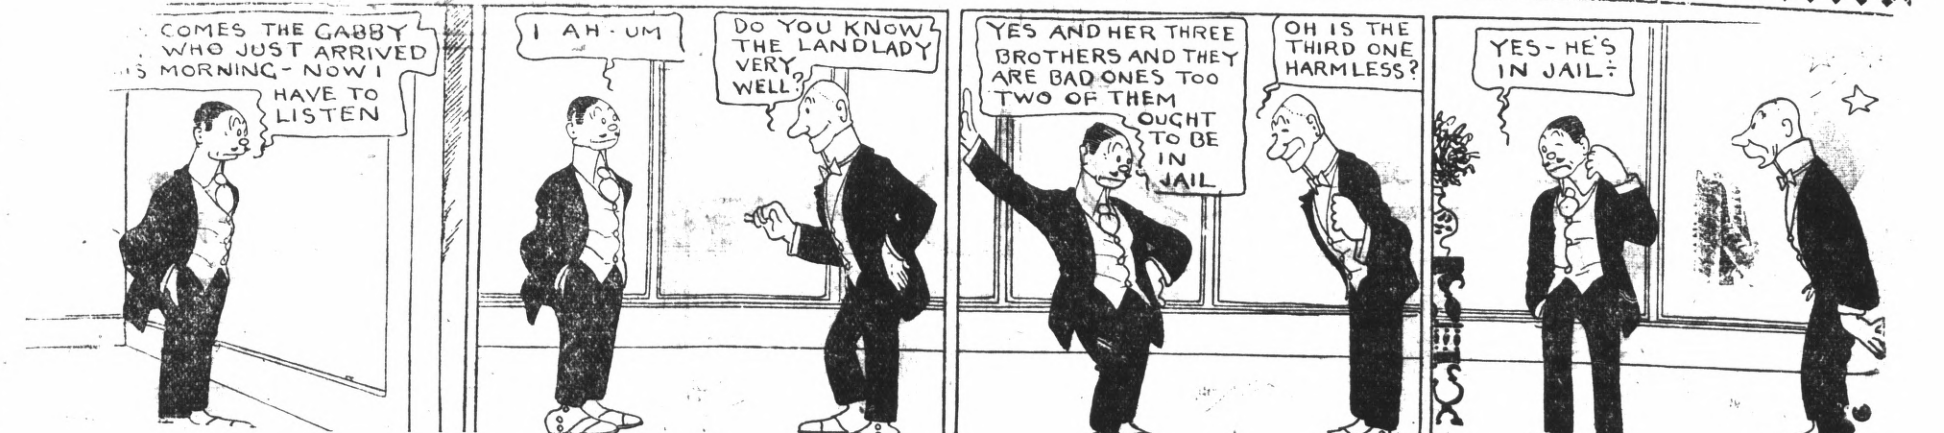

Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling because it is so pure and harmless and works so easily. Every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every druggist has this remarkable substance. Get the genuine.

Stomach Trouble for 20 Years

Chico, Jan. 21, 1927.
During the 20 years and more I suffered from Stomach Trouble, I doctored off and on, but the suffering still continued. The doctors said that I had Stomach Ulcers. I had to throw up most of my food; otherwise, the pain was unbearable.

I was recommended to try the Fong Wan Herbs. I took five weeks of the treatment and now feel fine. I never miss a meal and have gained 19 pounds in weight.

The above statements give the genuine facts and show what the Fong Wan Herbs have done for me.
